For everyone who's ever finished a basement, you know what it's like for an empty space to go from just studs to a carpeted livable room. That was the goal when Tim Rosene started Studs to Rugs. With a concentration on lower level finishing and remodeling, he strove to offer the highest quality and customer service at the best value. The company has since grown to include bathroom renovations, kitchen remodeling, decks, garages, house additions and even the occasional complete new home.

Tim was an aircraft mechanic for 15 years before his love for construction won out and Studs to Rugs was born. The company calls itself "your complete professional home repair and remodeling company," and has the statistics to back it up—2 houses, multiple additions and hundreds of basements completed.

According to Tim, what sets their company apart is their quality and customer service. "Studs to Rugs will always return your phone calls in a timely manner while offering respectful and professional service. We ensure that all the work done on your home is of the highest quality, using the best materials, and performed by qualified people who will respect your property while they work on it," says Tim.

He continued, "People have heard so many horror stories about contractors that they are scared to hire anyone to work on their house. They fear they are overpaying, or that the work is not done properly,

"We may not come in as the lowest, but for the exceptional service and finished product we offer, our price can't be beat."

or just don't want to deal with some of the rough characters that are out there. That's why here at Studs to Rugs we give professional customer service and do the job right the first time, every time. We even invite our customers to shop around for bids before accepting ours. We may not come in as the lowest, but for the exceptional service and finished product we offer, our price can't be beat."

Studs to Rugs is not only a new member to the BMHBA, but also new to Bismarck-Mandan. "We look forward to offering our outstanding product and services starting Winter 2011/Spring 2012," says Tim.

The company currently employs 11 employees in the Fargo-Moorhead location and will be growing as they expand to Bismarck-Mandan.

Welcome to Bismarck-Mandan and welcome to the association, Studs to Rugs!
